

DESPERATE FIGHT FOR A CRIMINAL

Five Fatally Wounded in an Effort to Arrest a Woman.

SHE CAUSED A GIRL'S DEATH

Her House Had to Be Burned Before
She Could Be Taken by the Officers.

Gilman, Ill., Aug. 27.—Two men killed, three wounded—two of them fatally—one woman wounded and her residence burned are the results of an all night battle between a mob and Mrs. Dr. C. W. Wright, who was accused of the murder of Bonnie Salter, the 16-year-old daughter of a citizen of Gilman.

The dead are:
John Myers, laborer, employed by Mrs. Dr. Wright.

Fatally wounded:
Lawrence Ryan, brother of the dead man, wounded in abdomen.

George Willoughby, citizen, shot through left lung.

Mrs. Dr. C. W. Wright, shot through right shoulder, bullet taking downward course.

Seriously wounded:
Peter Lauer, member of citizens' attacking party, shot through stomach.

Mrs. Dr. Wright was about 50 years old. It is stated that she was formerly an actress. For some time she has been conducting a livery in hospital on the outskirts of Gilman.

About 10 o'clock in the evening the first act of the tragedy was enacted. It was precipitated by the investigation of the coroner's jury into the death of Bonnie Salter, a 16-year-old girl of Leonard, Ill., who died in the hospital Friday night and was taken to her home in Leonard under cover of darkness early Saturday morning.

Coffin was procured. She was wrapped up in an old blanket and a piece of carpet and buried. After the jury had heard the evidence of Clarence Salter, father of the girl, the coroner came to the conclusion that she was adulterous.

Finally it was determined to set fire to the building. The recent rains had so dampened its timbers that the fire would not catch, and after burning some outbuildings, the posse gave up the attempt and fell back to their original program of driving out Mrs. Wright.

About 3 o'clock the family of Michael Ryan arrived. A mob of probably 250 people had gathered. Most of them were armed. The scene of the attack was a mob of about 250 people, who followed the arrival of Ryan's wife and children fired the crowd with frenzy. They seized dozens of bundles of straw, saturated them with kerosene, piled them against the front and sides of the so-called hospital and applied the torch. In a moment the place was a mass of flames. Shot after shot rang from the upper windows, and George Willoughby, a local representative of the Standard Oil company, fell with a bullet in the left side. The next victim was Peter Lauer, a member of the attacking party. These casualties so angered the crowd that they volleyed their shot after shot, and the fire soon broke out. Contrary to expectations no screams followed the progress of the flames and the mob began to think that the inmates of the burning house had been cremated. Suddenly, from a bunch of timber in the rear, several shots came in the direction of the mob. They were, however, a hundred to one and the fire was quickly silenced. Members of the mob rushed to the timber and in the dim light of the coming dawn, found the body of John Myers, a blacksmith, who had been employed by Mrs. Wright, stretched in the death agony. He was shot in a dozen places about the head and shoulders, showing that he had been lying on his face, firing at his enemies, when he met death. Near by lay Mrs. Wright, a ragged hole in her shoulder. The mob immediately dispersed. It had been reported that there were women in the house besides Mrs. Wright, but they were not found. The house was destroyed with its contents.

Madame Wright was brought to the city hall and a strong guard placed over her. A crowd soon assembled at the city hall and threats of lynching were uttered. Every effort was made to quiet and disperse the mob, but at 9 o'clock this forenoon the mob made another demonstration, running in the windows with stones and clubs. This culminated in a shot being fired through the window by one of the mob, barely missing the woman. The officers finally ordered her out, but it seemed probable that there would be further trouble. The coroner's jury adjourned until 1 o'clock.

BROKERS' POOR BUSINESS.

American Gold Saved Discount Rates
Temporarily—Stagnation on the London Stock Exchange.

New York, Aug. 27.—The Times financial correspondent says:

The American gold, which has been arriving all week, has again been the chief factor in governing discount rates. These, in the early part of the week, steadily slipped back, although they received a temporary check from the announcement made last Saturday of $1,000,000 in treasury bills paid off on the 15th, and $1,500,000 maturing on the 20th. The effect of this, however, was only momentary, as on Monday further large disbursements by the government glutted the market with credit and rates persistently eased until three months bills could be melted at 3 1/2 per cent.

Toward the end of the week the market began to realize that the end of the month was approaching when, in addition to the usual window dressing requirements of the banks, money would have to be found for consols and general settlements on the stock exchange. Rates, therefore, began to creep up again by the same minute stages as they had gone down, and this upward movement was strengthened by the discovery that the publication of bank returns that government money had been absorbed in repayment of the advances made against bullion in transit, and that the market was poorer by over $300,000 in consequence of its share of the installment due on exchange bonds.

Then came the news that the bank was again absorbing as much floating credit as it could get, and the week closed with discount at 3 1/2 per cent, with a good prospect of hardening still further on rumors that an impending Russian loan of $15,000,000 may be placed in Paris.

Tenders for the above mentioned treasury bills amounted to $3,935,000, and the allotment was 1,000,000 pounds for each six and twelve months, and $588,000 for nine months, all at an average as nearly as possible, of 3 1/2 per cent.

It will result in a rather higher market than expected, and the fact that the government has had to pay such a price for accommodation should have a decided effect in hardening rates. They are not likely, however, to be strengthened to any marked degree during the next week or two, as the demand for money remains unimportant, and the charge for loans being moderate will tend to keep the discount market easy. Day advances are a little more during the past few days, but the requirements have been only temporary, as was proved by the fact that loans for the week were about one-half of one per cent.

In spite of the fact that this period includes the stock exchange settlement, which commences on the 25th, accounts, however, they may be arranged, will not affect the market to any great extent, as the past fortnight has been of such stagnation as never before equalled in the history of the stock exchange. The brokers have had to watch as patiently as they could the steady shrinkage in values of nearly all the securities from consols downward. As an indication of how great this shrinkage has been, the Bankers' Magazine calculates that the depreciation during the past two months of 22 representatives securities has reached the total of 70,427,000 pounds, while since 1895 the fall in market value has been some $230,000,000.

Nomination for Judgeship.

Logan, Cache Co. Aug. 26.—Mr. W. W. Maughan, who was nominated by the Republicans yesterday for Judge of the First judicial district, states that he will positively refuse to run for the office. The judicial committee, consisting of Jos. Knowles of Cache, J. S. Perry of Boxelder and E. R. South of Rich county, will name another candidate. Maughan persists in his refusal to run.
